Amkai Announces Availability of IQmark Digital ECG (PC-EKG)

This major addition to AmkaiCharts™ improves efficiency and allows Amkai's clients to get closer to true paperless operations

Waterbury, CT --- December 8, 2008 --- Amkai announced today that it successfully launched the integration of Midmark's PC-EKG with AmkaiCharts™, Amkai's EMR for ambulatory Surgery Centers, Surgical Hospitals, and affiliated physician practices.

The IQmark Digital ECG is a highly advanced and refined system that runs on computer systems running Microsoft® Windows. The PC-EKG is:

- Quick, easy, intuitive
- Includes the Midmark 12-Lead Resting ECG Analysis Program— the gold standard for analysis
- Delivers immediate cost savings over conventional ECG machines

"The stand alone ECG has been made obsolete by technologies such as Midmark's IQmark Digital ECG", said Peter Sereny, MD, Amkai's Medical Director. "Integrated with AmkaiCharts™, our electronic clinical record solution, it provides the utmost in convenience and efficiency. Gone is the paper output, and with it the inherent probability of misfiling. It is a great cost reducing step", he added.

"The integration of IQmark Digital ECG into AmkaiCharts™ is just another step toward full paperless operations, ensuring that our clients operate at the highest efficiency technology allows," said Jason Troiano, VP of Technical Services.
